Seven Crews Man Boats After Report is Made Of Jump Off Bridge

Rescue squads searched the Delaware River in the vicinity of the Burlington-Bristol bridge, last evening, in search of a girl supposedly drowned. No one actually saw the girl jump into the river. A passing motorist, Dr. Henry H. Bisbee, a former resident of Bristol but now of Burlington, reported an incident to bridge police which touched off the search.

Dr. Bisbee, who is a practicing optometrist with offices in both Burlington and Bristol, was returning to Burlington when he saw the girl. She was on the west side of the bridge, near the railing, despite the fact that the pedestrian walk is on the opposite side of the span.

Dr. Bisbee reported to police that he saw the girl on that section of the bridge between the center span and the stop sign on the west side.

A girl, about 19, was seen by four motorists leaning against the bridge railing some 500 feet from the Maple Beach shore in Bristol township at about 8.45 last night. She was seen standing on the south side of the span where there is no pedestrian walk.

Bridge police stopped cars and searched for the girl. Failing to find her they called out Bristol Township police and units of the Interstate Marine Association. Seven crews manned boats and began the search of the dark river, remaining at the scene for three hours.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad set up its floodlighting system. The boat crews were directed through loudspeakers on the shore. A large crowd of spectators gathered at the scene as the search continued.

According to the compromise settlement, the following expenditures were presented:

Edna Davis, nursing, $186; Roy Evans, physical therapy, $81; Dr. Joseph J. Toland, III, $300; leg brace, $90; Nazareth Hospital, $245.35 and counsel fee, $780, or a total of $1,682.35.

Favorable View Of New Industries Is Aid To Del. Valley

Spring Conference Being Held Today Embraces Eleven Counties

The annual spring conference of the Greater Philadelphia-Delaware-South Jersey Council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia was held today that one of the most important factors in attracting business and its accompanying benefits into an area such as the Delaware Valley was the desirability of having "favorable public opinion" toward new industry.

"Industry wants to be wanted," said George E. Whitwell, vice-president in charge of sales of the Philadelphia Electric Co. But he indicated that there were still some portions of the Delaware Valley, embracing 11 counties in Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware, which did not have "this extremely important attitude."

Whitwell was the opening speaker at the all-day meeting of some 500 industrial, civic and business leaders and regional planners at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Philadelphia. Other scheduled addresses were by J. Harry LaBrum, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia, the luncheon and keynote speaker; Park H. Martin, executive director, Allegheny Conference on Community Development; E. O. Jewell, general manager, Norfolk Port Authority; and Edmund N. Bacon, executive director of the Philadelphia City Planning Commission, speaking for Edward Hopkins, Jr., chairman of the City Planning Commission who was unable to be present.

Presiding at the four morning and afternoon sessions were E. L. Sinclair, General Manager, Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Paulsboro, N. J., chairman of the Gloucester County division of the Council; Edwin E. Underdown, president, Camden County Chamber of Commerce; F. Carter Schaub, general manager, Sears, Roebuck & Co., and a vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia, and Wroe Alderson, Alderson and Sessions, who is also chairman of the program committee for the spring conference.

Decision Reached in Levitt Water Tower Appeal

The Middletown twp. Zoning Board last night decided on the appeal of Levitt & Sons' permit to build a water tower in the township, but this morning Walter S. Miller, chairman, would not say how they decided.

The board, consisting of Miller, William Kramer and William Chichester, met last night after a meeting Friday. The meetings followed a hearing last Wednesday on an appeal by Middletown twp. Authority, challenging the action of Zoning Officer W. H. Ticehurst, in giving Levitt a permit to build the tower.

Miller said this morning he instructed Kramer, secretary of the board, to notify the "interested parties" by registered mail of last night's decision. "Until the letters are received, we don't wish to announce the decision," Miller said.

Court Takes Boundary Change Under Advisement

Doylestown.—In a two-hour hearing in argument court yesterday, the Levittown boundary change was argued by James Sutton, esq., and William Satterthwaite, Jr., esq., for the petitioners and I. Louis Rubin, esq., for the respondents. It was taken under advisement by the court.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller, Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite and Judge Edward G. Biester heard the case, but did not indicate when they will hand down a opinion.

The proposed change affects the boundaries within Levittown of the municipalities and school districts of Falls and Bristol twp. and Tullytown Borough.

Mr. Rubin, in presenting his case, asked whether the change is an alteration of boundary lines, as contended by the petitioners, or an annexation, which would require different procedure to be effected. Assuming that it is an annexation, he stated, is it for the convenience of the inhabitants?

Bristol Twp. Board Leases Site for Dump

Bristol township Commissioners have signed a lease agreement with the Northeast Salvage Co., owners of the dump located at Beaver Dam road, for use of the dump for $1 per year.

The agreement provides for yearly use of the dump by the township beginning January 1, 1953. At the expiration of the year the lease will be renewed on a monthly basis. It may be terminated by either party. The $1 per year charge may be increased by the township by whatever amount may be deemed necessary.

At the township Commissioners meeting Wednesday night Rudolph Kraus, dump custodian, suggested that the commissioners provide a method of back-filling over the rubbish that is deposited at the dump.

Kraus estimated that the dump could be kept in a "sanitary" condition for "about $1,000 per month."

President George Sottung told Kraus that the Commissioners would consider the suggestion and might call Kraus in at a later date to enlarge on his suggestion.

History Acclaimed As Most Important School Subject

Mrs. Hutton Guest Speaker At Meeting of Legion Auxiliary

(By Staff Reporter)

LANGHORNE, May 19.—"I think that today history is the most important subject being taught in the schools. Students study mathematics, they study English, etc., but they live history." This fact was vividly impressed on members of the American Legion Auxiliary, a representation of the Jesse W. Soby Post, and other guests at the May session of the Auxiliary last evening in Cadet hall, when Ann Hawkes Hutton, of Edgely, a member of Washington Crossing Park Commission, was the speaker.

The program, revolving about the theme of Americanism, was outlined by Mrs. Charles Dittmar, Americanism chairman of the unit, who introduced the guest.

"Reactions to our country's history, opinions, attitudes, all are formed in the classroom. What happens there may determine whether a student becomes a MacArthur or a Hiss, a Hoover or a Harry Green," continued Mrs. Hutton, author of "George Washington Crossed Here."

Her message to the veterans and the hostess organization also contained this: "American history has helped to shape the destiny of all men everywhere who desire freedom. One Asiatic spokesman, Nabih Amin Faris, of Lebanon, professor of history at the American University of Beirut, says 'Since 1820 American schools have flourished throughout the area. Could the story of the American Revolution be taught without spreading its ideas and ideals?' The word 'American' continued on Page Two

Orrino-Schmidt Battle for Burgess In Spotlight Today

Workers for Both Are Busy; Polls Remain Open Until 9 P. M.

The Orrino-Schmidt battle for the Republican nomination for Burgess of Bristol took a new turn last evening and during the night. Forces supporting Robert R. Orrino toured the borough with a sound truck soliciting votes for their favorite.

Residents were greeted this morning with mimeographed posters attached to utility poles, advertising the candidacy of Horace P. Schmidt.

Workers in behalf of both candidates are anticipating a busy day at the polls, which opened at eight o'clock and will close at nine this evening, Daylight Saving Time.

The sticker campaign for Schmidt was announced last Friday and this spurred the Orrino forces into action, as previous to this Orrino was unopposed.

In Doylestown, officials at the four borough polling places reported one of the lowest primary-day turnouts in years.

At 10.30, only 108 of the county seats 2,954 eligible voters had cast ballots. Only 12 of the 108 were Democratic voters. There were no contests for local offices there.

Favorable View Of New Industries Is Aid To Del. Valley

Spring Conference Being Held Today Embraces Eleven Counties

The annual spring conference of the Greater Philadelphia-Delaware-South Jersey Council of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia was held today that one of the most important factors in attracting business and its accompanying benefits into an area such as the Delaware Valley was the desirability of having "favorable public opinion" toward new industry.

"Industry wants to be wanted," said George E. Whitwell, vice-president in charge of sales of the Philadelphia Electric Co. But he indicated that there were still some portions of the Delaware Valley, embracing 11 counties in Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey and Delaware, which did not have "this extremely important attitude."

Whitwell was the opening speaker at the all-day meeting of some 500 industrial, civic and business leaders and regional planners at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in Philadelphia.

Other scheduled addresses were by J. Harry LaBum, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia, the luncheon and keynote speaker; Park H. Martin, executive director, Allegheny Conference on Community Development; E. O. Jewell, general manager, Norfolk Port Authority; and Edmund N. Bacon, executive director of the Philadelphia City Planning Commission, speaking for Edward Hopkinson, Jr., chairman of the City Planning Commission who was unable to be present.

Presiding at the four morning and afternoon sessions were E. L. Sinclair, General Manager, Socony Vacuum Oil Co., Paulsboro, N. J., chairman of the Gloucester County division of the Council; Edwin E. Underdown, president, Camden County Chamber of Commerce; F. Carter Schaub, general manager, Sears, Roebuck & Co., and a vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia, and Wroe Alderson, Alderson and Sessions, who is also chairman of the program committee for the spring conference.

According to Theodore Luz, 3rd, secretary, the next action to be taken on zoning is up to the supervisors who must authorize a survey be made of the township.

The Chamber of Commerce is also sponsoring the Bensalem Division of the Lower Bucks County Week Parade. Final plans were made for township participation.

Edward Sheppard, of Cornwells Heights, is chairman of the parade committee.

Decision Reached in Levitt Water Tower Appeal

The Middletown twp. Zoning Board last night decided on the appeal of Levitt & Sons' permit to build a water tower in the township, but this morning Walter S. Miller, chairman, would not say how they decided.

The board, consisting of Miller, William Kramer and William Chichester, met last night after a meeting Friday. The meetings followed a hearing last Wednesday on an appeal by Middletown twp. Authority, challenging the action of Zoning Officer W. H. Ticehurst, in giving Levitt a permit to build the tower.

Miller said this morning he instructed Kramer, secretary of the board, to notify the "interested parties" by registered mail of last night's decision. "Until the letters are received, we don't wish to announce the decision," Miller said.

Court Takes Boundary Change Under Advisement

Doylestown.—In a two-hour hearing in argument court yesterday, the Levittown boundary change was argued by James Sutton, esq., and William Satterthwaite, Jr., esq., for the petitioners and I. Louis Rubin, esq., for the exceptants. It was taken under advisement by the court.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller, Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite and Judge Edward G. Blester heard the case, but did not indicate when they will hand down an opinion.

The proposed change affects the boundaries within Levittown of the municipalities and school districts of Falls and Bristol twp. and Tullytown Borough.

Mr. Rubin, in presenting his case, asked whether the change is an alteration of boundary lines, as contended by the petitioners, or an annexation, which would require different procedure to be effected. Assuming that it is an alteration, he stated, is it for the convenience of the inhabitants?

Bristol Twp. Board Leases Site for Dump

Bristol township Commissioners have signed a lease agreement with the Northeast Salvage Co., owners of the dump located at Beaver Dam road, for use of the dump for $1 per year.

The agreement provides for yearly use of the dump by the township beginning January 1, 1953. At the expiration of the year the lease will be renewed on a monthly basis. It may be terminated by either party. The $1 per year charge may be increased by the township by whatever amount may be deemed necessary.

At the township Commissioners meeting Wednesday night Rudolph Kraus, dump custodian, suggested that the commissioners provide a method of back-filling over the rubbish that is deposited at the dump.

Kraus estimated that the dump could be kept in a "sanitary" condition for "about $1,000 per month."

President George Sottung told Kraus that the Commissioners would consider the suggestion and might call Kraus in at a later date to enlarge on his suggestion.

NEW AIR FORCE CHIEF

Appointment of Gen. Nathan L. Twining to replace Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg as top officer in the Air Force appears to have been the natural solution of the problem of seeking a good policy maker to be both Air Force boss and this service's representative on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

General Twining had been heretofore apparent to General Vandenberg's job. But he appears to have the larger qualifications which will be needed to meet the altered mission of the Joint Chiefs.

Apparently one requisite of new top military appointments is the ability to see farther than the needs of the officer's particular service. General Twining has already shown this ability, both in riding herd on factionalism within his own Air Force while pinch hitting as air chief during the long illness of General Vandenberg, and by the manner in which he has handled the problems of liaison with Congress.

HAPPY TUNE

Study of words is full of strange surprises. Take "canary" for instance. Most persons, when they hear it, think of a bird. Textile designers may think of a color, wine merchants of a beverage, geographers of a group of islands. But the word "canary" is derived from the Latin "canis," dog.

A species of large dogs, now extinct, formerly roamed a group of islands off northwest Africa, so the far-ranging Romans named the group the Canaries. A small yellow melodious finch later exported from there was called a canary because it came from the Canary Islands. A canary, in short, is a dog-island bird—but the dogs aren't there any more.

Natives of the islands may be called Canaries. The name fits. They have developed one of the world's strangest languages, which sounds more like a canary bird than any other human speech. They whistle—high and low, soft and strident, shrill and rhythmic—with a clear, rippling sound resembling a nightingale's song. Using this speech (if it can be called that) they can communicate over distances of several miles.

Save for the Hottentots with their clicks, no other people has strayed so far from the beaten path of human language. But there is a reason. The islands—which some say are remnants of the legendary lost Atlantis—are rugged and surf-ringed. When the trade winds whistle through their gorges and the waves crash on their beaches, ordinary speech is almost drowned out. But the shrill clear tones of their special language can easily be heard. It is perfectly adapted to their environment.

It has had other uses, too. Five minutes after the tax collector landed on one of the islands, everybody on it knew of his presence.

History Claimed

ican" acquired a radiance never equaled by any other and constantly contrasted with the Middle East people's conception of other foreigners.

"Would that the word 'American' carried the same radiance in every schoolroom in America! Only by learning the inspiring chapters of our country's past will our young people find reasons for working—if necessary dying—for its future. Perhaps I can best summarize my opinion of the importance of history by quoting my own definition: 'History is yesterday's fact which, understood today, may shape tomorrow.'"

In telling of reactions of school children who visit Washington Crossing Park and gaze upon Leutze's painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware", Mrs. Hutten told of the message of "American Crisis No. 1" for one little girl who visited the church where the painting is temporarily housed. "A little colored girl held up her hand when the question arose regarding use in the picture of the American flag before the flag came into being. Her answer summed up the achievements of the father of our country. 'The painter used the American flag to show that Mr. Washington was carrying America across the river.' I shall never hear a better explanation of this turning point of the American Revolution. The little girl who gave it is armed with the most powerful weapon we have to offer her—a pride in her country's past which will give her the necessary faith in its future". Every citizen can help to make history by helping to make American history live for the millions of young Americans who will become our nation's leaders of tomorrow."

The unit president, Mrs. John Montgomery, requested Mrs. Herley Kniley, secretary, to present the activities report for the past year.

Group singing was led by Theodore Staudenmeyer, with Mrs. Gilbert Bonnell serving as pianist. Joseph Zalat, member of the post's executive committee, outlined briefly the program for Memorial day.

The president presented request for 400 small "comfort" items for distribution June 23rd at the V. A. Hospital, Phila. Election of officers is scheduled for next month.

Light refreshments concluded the program.

To the Editor of the Courier:

Every once in a while an article will crop up in the paper that seems to call for discussion. Last Thursday a well-meaning mother made known her misguided thinking via a communication to your paper. She inferred in her letter that the Mill st. stores were receiving the financial blessings of our esteemed Council in regards to the road planned for the public parking area. A little investigation on her part would reveal that no financial aid is forth coming from this sagacious group.

Even the parking meter revenue, which is made possible by this shopping area, is unobtainable for this project but is slated for the 'general fund'. For her enlightenment she should be informed that the merchants are financing this project themselves, in an attempt to save this shopping area, which by the way, produces quite a bit of revenue for taxes due to high assessments. This heavy burden on the Mill st. area of course makes a lighter burden for the rest of the town—but if this area was to become obsolete—need I go on!

I would suggest that this reader put forth her efforts in organizing a 'pool fund'.

Editor Courier:

I was very much interested in a lengthy article in your April 17th issue reciting a speech made by a Mr. Hallman advocating wholesale merger of the government of Lower Bucks County into one large city organization, and to me it seems to be another example of the fuzzy minded thinking of these theorists in government who get their government out of textbooks.

I wonder if Mr. Hallman ever heard of a fundamental axiom of government first expounded by Thomas Jefferson wherein he stated that the closer the government is to the people the better that government is going to be. Evidently he has not heard of it. I might also remark that to carry his theory into execution and to do it generally throughout the country would result in the formation in a very few and extremely large units of government presumably resulting in greater efficiency but I wonder if Mr. Hallman would hold up as examples of efficiency and desirability of government the existing government in our largest unit of government, our great metropolitan cities. I would respectfully refer him to the government from which he is a part and have him ask whether he would have that type of government expense and administration passed to the small local communities that he advocates consolidation of.

Two Sailors Jailed For Disorder in Restaurant

DOYLESTOWN, May 19 — Two

Willow Grove Naval Air Station sailors, George Durrell, Jr., 26, 1234 Pine st., Phila., and George Ward, 21, Lockport, N. Y., were committed to the Bucks County Prison after they allegedly became drunk and disorderly and insulted a Warrington township diner proprietor and his wife.

The two sailors parked their car near the Warrington Motel at Neshaminy. When the diner and motel proprietor, Joseph Elenitski, a former Philadelphia policeman, told them their car was parked on private property they allegedly became insulting. They argued with Elenitski and are said to have called his wife names.

Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, Edison, in default of their paying $10 fines and the costs of prosecution, committed the sailors to jail.

They were sentenced to serve five days but then a "mate" appeared, paid their fines and they were released.

Troopers Cal J. Sauer and Boleslaw Wojciechowski, of the Warrington sub-station of the Penna. State Police, investigated the affray and took the sailors to prison.

NEW AIR FORCE CHIEF

Appointment of Gen. Nathan L. Twining to replace Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg as top officer in the Air Force appears to have been the natural solution of the problem of seeking a good policy maker to be both Air Force boss and this service's representative on the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

General Twining had been their apparent to General Vandenberg's job. But he appears to have the larger qualifications which will be needed to meet the altered mission of the Joint Chiefs.

Apparently one requisite of new top military appointments is the ability to see farther than the needs of the officer's particular service. General Twining has already shown this ability, both in riding herd on factionalism within his own Air Force while pinch hitting as air chief during the long illness of General Vandenberg, and by the manner in which he has handled the problems of liaison with Congress.

HAPPY TUNE

Study of words is full of strange surprises. Take "canary" for instance. Most persons, when they hear it, think of a bird. Textile designers may think of a color, wine merchants of a beverage, geographers of a group of islands. But the word "canary" is derived from the Latin "canis," dog.

A species of large dogs, now extinct, formerly roamed a group of islands off northwest Africa, so the far-ranging Romans named the group the Canaries. A small yellow melodious finch later exported from there was called a canary because it came from the Canary Islands. A canary, in short, is a dog-island bird—but the dogs aren't there any more.

Natives of the islands may be called Canaries. The name fits. They have developed one of the world's strangest languages, which sounds more like a canary bird than any other human speech. They whistle—high and low, soft and strident, shrill and rhythmic—with a clear, rippling sound resembling a nightingale's song. Using this speech (if it can be called that) they can communicate over distances of several miles.

Save for the Hottentots, with their clicks, no other people has strayed so far from the beaten path of human language. But there is a reason. The islands—which some say are remnants of the legendary lost Atlantis—are rugged and surf-ringed. When the trade winds whistle through their gorges and the waves crash on their beaches, ordinary speech is almost drowned out. But the shrill clear tones of their special language can easily be heard. It is perfectly adapted to their environment.

It has had other uses, too. Five minutes after the tax collector landed on one of the islands, everybody on it knew of his presence.

ican" acquired a radiance never equalled by any other and constantly contrasted with the Middle East people's conception of other foreigners.

"Would that the word 'American' carried the same radiance in every schoolroom in America! Only by learning the inspiring chapters of our country's past will our young people find reasons for working—if necessary dying—for its future. Perhaps I can best summarize my opinion of the importance of history by quoting my own definition: 'History is yesterday's fact which, understood today, may shape tomorrow.'"

In telling of reactions of school children who visit Washington Crossing Park and gaze upon Leutze's painting of "Washington Crossing the Delaware", Mrs. Hutten told of the message of "American Crisis No. 1" for one little girl who visited the church where the painting is temporarily housed. "A little colored girl held up her hand when the question arose regarding use in the picture of the American flag before the flag came into being. Her answer summed up the achievements of the father of our country. 'The painter used the American flag to show that Mr. Washington was carrying America across the river'. I shall never hear a better explanation of this turning point of the American Revolution. The little girl who gave it is armed with the most powerful weapon we have to offer her—a pride in her country's past which will give her the necessary faith

Biester to serve not less than one month nor more than a year, pay $25 fines and the costs of prosecution in equal shares.

The two defendants, involved in 9 robberies in New Jersey, served from five to seven years in New Jersey penal institutions.

Leonard G. Keen, 45, manager of the Yardley Acme store, testified the two men entered the store by cutting a hole in the roof. They used the safe and stole $60 from it.

Trooper Andrew J. Kutney, of the Langhorne State Police, testified about $219 worth of foods, mostly meats were stolen. Large amounts of hams, scrapple, bacon and steaks were stolen.

Driver served four years and nine months mostly in Rahway, where he was transferred from the New Jersey State Prison. Mills is the father of four children.

"You two men have served enough time in jail if prison punishment is to do you any good," said Judge Biester. "Under the law I must impose a prison sentence." The two men pleaded guilty to burglary larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Judge Biester. He paid a $100 fine and was in jail since Jan. 9.

"This man has worked everyday on the county bridges," said Prison Warden Handy. "He worked harder than if he was being paid to work and has more than earned his costs." Mayo's minimum expired March 9. William H. Jones, Middletown twp., was killed in a collision at Woodbourne and Route 213 intersection.

Judge Biester warned Joseph Fitch, Croydon, a second offender, about his drinking habits. Fitch, who was serving from three months to a year because of drunken driving, paid a $250 fine and the costs of prosecution. "If you take one drink and we learn about it you will be brought back to serve the balance of your sentence," the Court warned. Fitch was sentenced Jan. 12.

Ronald Schild, 21, 122 North Second St., North Wales, of the U. S. Army, was turned over to Army authorities from Gray's Ferry De-

87 Partake of First Communion at Croydon

CROYDON, May 19 — About 87 small boys and girls partook of their first holy communion in St. Thomas Aquinas R. C. Church, Sunday at eight o'clock Mass. This is the largest class of first communicants in the history of the church.

The May procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary was held at two o'clock. The children marched through the rosary bridge and around the fountain, thence into the church for the service. The first communicants were followed by the boys and girls of intermediate grades. The boys were attired in blue trousers, white shirts and blue tie. The girls, attired in white dresses, wore pink or blue floral wreaths in their hair. Eighth grade boys wore navy blue suits, toast colored ties, and were accompanied by a page in a white suit. All carried red roses which were later laid at the altar railing. There were twelve boys. Ten girls of eighth grade, attired in long pale blue gowns of taffeta and nylon net, wore chantilly lace halos, and carried sheaf bouquets of mixed flowers. They were attended by a small girl dressed in a long gown of white organdy tucked with small blue bows, blue nylon tulle halos, and carrying a small nosegay of red roses. The May Queen, Lorraine Kolecik, wore a white gown similar to that of the others, over which was a long blue satin cape with a Queen's Collar. The cape was carried by four tots. Miss Kolecik carried a silver platter on which rested the crown of white roses which was later placed on the statue of the Blessed Mother by the Rev. Jos. Diamond.

The school children dedicated themselves anew to the Sacred Heart and the Blessed Mother. The Rev. Fr. Diamond delivered the sermon, followed by benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament. The ceremony was closed with singing of Divine Praises.

A lesser degree to landscapes, mostly in drawings and pastels. One of his earliest oils, painted on the farm of his father, near Radnor, where he was born, is included, along with a portrait of an aunt and two small canvases painted while he was on a travelling scholarship to France nearly sixty years ago.

Conner was the first student at the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts to win an European scholarship. Two subsequent trips to Europe had a lasting effect upon the course of his painting subjects which were quietly romantic in theme with emphasis on peaceful situations.

His people were inclined to humble pursuits—planting, sowing and reaping; never with modern appliances but almost always with the sickle, the spade or other age-old implements used when man first began to till the soil. Several canvases of such subjects are included, one lent by the Sellersville-Perkasie schools and the other by the Bucks County picture pool from which pictures are circulated among the county schools.

Landscapes include several of actual scenes in Doylestown.

At the Woodmere Gallery in Chestnut Hill he won the top honors at the annual exhibition a few years ago. Later one of his paintings was purchased for the gallery's permanent collection. Some years ago he was represented in many major American art exhibitions and

THOUGHTS FROM THE 84th PSALM

Dwelling in God's House

It was the great preacher Spurgeon who first called attention to what Sir Richard Baker said concerning the fourth verse of the 84th Psalm. In short, he calls our attention to the fact that the Psalmist speaks first in this poem of the TABERNACLES which belong to the Lord of Hosts. He then speaks of the COURTS which belong to a king and portray his majesty. He then proceeds to the ALTARS which belong to a holy God. At last the Psalmist sings of the blessedness coming to the folks who dwell in God's HOUSE, which is an apparent descent from the high conceptions just enunciated.

In fact this is a climax in the poet's thinking, for this is one of the places in the Old Testament where God is spoken of as a Householder. Who in a friendly fashion invites us to be His guests. Many of the things which Jesus later taught about God as the Father are here anticipated. It was said of one of the greatest of England's Lord Chancellors that he was noted for the calm with which he bore the burdens of government. Upon being questioned about it, he replied, "Every morning I lay before God as my heavenly Father, the plans and cares I have upon my mind. I ask for His help and guidance, and THERE I LEAVE THEM." You can do this too.

of the dinner committee. Cards will follow.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wolfinger helped their daughter Sandra celebrate her second birthday anniversary at a party at their home on Faragut ave. AUXILIARY MEETING

FALLSINGTON, May 19 — Mrs. Edward Reading, Jr., presided at a meeting of Falls Twp. Fire Co. Auxiliary May 12. Mrs. Albert Doster announced there will be a firemen's banquet May 29th at Holiday Inn, for firemen and Auxiliary members. Each member is permitted to take one visitor. It was decided to give $5 toward the prize for Miss Falls Township, who will be selected during Bucks County Week. Mrs. Leslie Stradling and Mrs. Lena Updike were chosen captains for membership drive teams. All dues for new members are to be turned in at June 9th meeting. The losing team will give the winning team a supper. It was decided to purchase past president pins, also sterling silver pins for any members desiring them. Door prize taken by Mrs. George Christman was won by Mrs. Leslie Stradling. A refrigerator has been donated to the fire company. Refreshments were served to 23 by Mrs. Alfred Buckalew.

Levittown Civic Group To Hold Election Tonight

LEVITTOWN, May 19 — The Levittown Civic Association will elect new officers tonight at a meeting starting at 8 o'clock in Edgely Fire house.

The Civic Association's board of directors were called to an emergency meeting last night after Jules Levin, appointed judge of elections, stated that contrary to the Association's by-law, written notices of the election were not circulated to the members.

The section he referred to reads: "The Regular Meeting in the month of May shall be declared the Annual Meeting. Written notice of this meeting shall be sent at least one week before such meeting."

"Should an election be held tomorrow night," Levin said, "it might be declared unconstitutional. I'm afraid somebody will get up in the audience after the election and say, 'I wasn't notified.'"

To solve the problem, the directors and officers passed a motion, "that the notice in the newspapers be considered as written notice and fulfilling the requirements of the constitution, and that the association precede with the election as planned."

The motion, offered by Donald Whitkin, was seconded by David Melnick. It was adopted by a vote of 10 to seven.

Paul Beckert, current president of the Civic Association, before the introduction of the motion said, "Phil Week (publicity chairman) sent out a notice that was put in the papers. While we violated the letter of the constitution, I don't think we violated the spirit."

Melnick said the provision in the by-laws "doesn't say who the notice is to be sent to."

Beckert said he would inform the membership of the problem and the board's motion tonight when the elections are opened.

Edward Hough, secretary, commented, "We know the constitution is inadequate. I think this whole matter is trivial. To me, proceeding with the election is the important thing."

Duke Sloan, as chairman of the board of directors, called the meeting when Levin cited the problem to him.

THOUGHTS FROM THE 84th PSALM

Dwelling in God's House

It was the great preacher Spurgeon who first called attention to what Sir Richard Baker said concerning the fourth verse of the 84th Psalm. In short, he calls our attention to the fact that the Psalmist speaks first in this poem of the TABERNACLES which belong to the Lord of Hosts. He then speaks of the COURTS which belong to a king and portray his majesty. He then proceeds to the ALTARS which belong to a holy God. At last the Psalmist sings of the blessedness coming to the folks who dwell in God's HOUSE, which is an apparent descent from the high conceptions just enunciated.

In fact this is a climax in the poet's thinking, for this is one of the places in the Old Testament where God is spoken of as a Householder. Who in a friendly fashion invites us to be His guests. Many of the things which Jesus later taught about God as the Father are here anticipated.

It was said of one of the greatest of England's Lord Chancellors that he was noted for the calm with which he bore the burdens of government. Upon being questioned about it, he replied, "Every morning I lay before God as my heavenly Father, the plans and cares I have upon my mind. I ask for His help and guidance, and THERE I LEAVE THEM." You can do this too.

of the dinner committee. Cards will follow.

Nomination of officers is scheduled for this evening at 8:30 in Bracken Post home when members of American Legion conduct a meeting.

A training session for Girl Scout troop committee members will be held May 20th, from one to three p. m., in Harriman Methodist Church.

Prizes listed for the card party to be held this evening at 8:15 in St. James parish house, sponsored by Mothers' Guild, are: nylon hosiery, beverage glasses, knick-knack shelf, glass hardware, doughnut maker, ironing board cover holders, teapot, hammered brass bracelets, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wolfinger helped their daughter Sandra celebrate her second birthday anniversary at a party at their home on Faragut ave. Balloons and hats and candy baskets were given the children. Games were played and prizes awarded to Joanne Kroouze, Jeanne Kiddy and Gail Alberti. Refreshments were served to Mrs. Frank Wolfinger, Sr., Mrs. Russell Subers, Todd, Gary and Jenny Lou Subers, Mrs. Joseph Kroouze, "Tommy," Joanne and Linda Kroouze, Mrs. John Kiddy Bette Jeanne and Diane Kiddy, Edgely; Mrs. Earl Trimble, Ronald and Earl Trimble, Jr., Mrs. John VanFrasen and daughter Donna; Mrs. Eugene Alberti and children Gail, Jean and Joseph; Darlene, Arlene and Paul Briggs. Sandra received gifts.

NEWS OF THE LEVITTOWN COMMUNITY

Levittown Civic Group To Hold Election Tonight

LEVITTOWN, May 19—The Levittown Civic Association will elect new officers tonight at a meeting starting at 8 o'clock in Edgely Fire house.

The Civic Association's board of directors were called to an emergency meeting last night after Jules Levin, appointed judge of elections, stated that contrary to the Association's by-law, written notices of the election were not circulated to the members.

The section he referred to reads: "The Regular Meeting in the month of May shall be declared the Annual Meeting. Written notice of this meeting shall be sent at least one week before such meeting."

"Should an election be held tomorrow night," Levin said, "it might be declared unconstitutional. I'm afraid somebody will get up in the audience after the election and say, 'I wasn't notified.'"

To solve the problem, the directors and officers passed a motion, "that the notice in the newspapers be considered as written notice and fulfilling the requirements of the constitution, and that the association precede with the election as planned."

The motion, offered by Donald Whitkin, was seconded by David Melnick. It was adopted by a vote of 10 to seven.

Paul Becker, current president of the Civic Association, before the introduction of the motion said, "Phil Week (publicity chairman) sent out a notice that was put in the papers. While we violated the letter of the constitution, I don't think we violated the spirit."

Melnick said the provision in the by-laws "doesn't say who the notice is to be sent to."

Becker said he would inform the membership of the problem and the board's motion tonight when the elections are opened.

Edward Hough, secretary, commented, "We know the constitution is inadequate. I think this whole matter is trivial. To me, proceeding with the election is the important thing."

Duke Sloan, as chairman of the board of directors, called the meeting when Levin cited the problem to him.
